Interfaith Association of Central Ohio (IACO) represents people of different faiths promoting religious understanding, tolerance and freedom. The purposes of the association are:

1. To create an inter-religious community based on understanding, friendship, and trust
2. To educate adherents and the public about customs and practices of faith traditions
3. To provide interfaith public worship and ceremonies expressing local and global concerns
4. To promote social justice, peace, and human dignity

IACO is governed by an Interfaith Council, which includes up to three representatives from eight faith traditions: Baha'i Faith, Buddhism, Christianity, Hinduism, Islam, Jainism, Judaism, and Sikh Faith.

The IACO has three major standing committees:

Education: Provides for educational opportunities for members and the public to learn about the social and religious beliefs and practices of the participating faith traditions.

Public Interface: Plans interfaith programs and represents the Interfaith Association on various social issues.

Spiritual Sharing: Organizes dialogue groups and other opportunities for persons of different faith traditions to exchange viewpoints and learn about each other's groups and religions.
